What's new in Land It Rocket:

This is a highly requested add-on. It covers the Blue and Tan Line between Topeka and Kansas City/Missouri coming from Granger field. It covers the light colored area on the Kansas City/Missouri / Grayson map. This is not ready for Windows 10, but there is an intermediate working version for Windows 8 and 7. If you have Windows 10, take a look at the readme. I did try to group the points to make the file smaller so there are small gaps between stations. The file is over 1.2GB. We are a small group of companies who worked together to provide you with this add-on. Please know that it is all done by volunteers.

First aid: All the usual symptoms with a fever have been exhausted. Nothing is improving and the dog is still agitated. He has a high fever above 102 and seems miserable. You: Do what you can to make sure he stays calm. If there is any sign of depression, give Clonidine to help with the symptoms. Make sure to check with your vet the first thing you do in the morning, or you could be a little late on taking him to a vet.

Fueling: With no hydration in the van, you need to do what you can to make sure he is fueled as best as possible. Feed high quality kibble, slowly and provide water in small amounts. You can also add a scoop of high dose Flax oil and Omega 3 to help with the post traumatic shock and fatigue and to stop ketones taking a toll. Be sure to warm the food up to about 100 degrees because kibble is a mass feed and needs to be warm. My first choice of fueling after a van repair was the bentonite based diet, which is derived from the exact ingredient from Johnson and Johnson of non-toxic personal care products. Everyone will have to use their own judgment. Some people like the crunch but I like the softer consistency. If you are not adjusting to a mass feed having to work on your feet, make sure to have a place to sit. While the team works on taking care of the dog and the van for the next several weeks to get to his next destination. Here are some results of the first medical trip. The first thing I check when I get up every morning is the vet official service called the Animal Screening Form for Pet Animal and People. According to the
